The Hull PRCS Annual Society Meeting is scheduled to take place at the grade school this Thursday, June 25 at 7:30PM. The Board presents the following board nominees: Brandyn Brummel, Dolan De Roon, Dustin Keizer, Derek Koedam, Kevin Van Maanen, and Nate Villalobos. Summer Bible Camp is just one month away! Sign-up sheets are in the back of church. Camp begins Monday, July 6 and finishes Thursday, July 9 with a program and family meal. We look forward to learning together what God has revealed to us about Himself through His creation!

The Summer Bible Camp committee is looking for your help! The first way is to help us spread the word regarding our upcoming camp with the flyer in your mailbox. Hang it up at a local bulletin board, your own personal place of business, or reach out to a neighbor with a personal invite. The committee is also looking for donations of toilet paper tubes to use for a craft, which can be dropped off in the box underneath the 'lost and found' table. Finally, please consider offering your own time by signing up to volunteer during the actual camp. We appreciate the amazing support you as our congregation can offer in any or even all of these ways, and pray that God's name would be honored as we shine our lights to those he has placed around us. Matthew 5:16 - "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

Pornography is destroying lives, families, marriages and infecting the church. Is this something we can "view occasionally" or "struggle with" and not be affected? How does God view this sin? The Consistory of Crete PRC will be presenting a speech titled "The Plague of Pornography" by Rev. Joshua Engelsma on July 15 at 7 PM at Crete PRC. We encourage men, women and young adults to join us for this timely speech. The speech will also be live-streamed on the Crete PRC YouTube channel. "And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." Ephesians 5:11.

QUOTES FOR CONTEMPLATION

What do you have planned for today? It may or may not take place. It all depends on what the all-wise God of all mercy has planned in his eternal, unchangeable counsel. And that counsel is not a dead blueprint but a living plan that he eternally has in mind and that is constantly before his consciousness.

All in that counsel is designed to realize the day when the kingdom of Christ is established upon the new earth and God is all in all. Then the church of Christ is crowned with the glory that he now has at God's right hand. And the exact measure of glory, as well as the exact way it will be realized for each individual believer, and the exact moment of his entrance into it with his soul, is all unchangeably decreed in that counsel or living plan.

Asaph did not see that before he wrote Psalm 73. He envied the wicked in their earthly prosperity. His own poverty, afflictions, and difficulties made him question God's love and tender mercy for him. He could not see how the rough road on which he was traveling could lead to heavenly glory. He wanted earthly glory as an evidence of coming heavenly glory. Being chastened every morning and plagued all the day long, he could not see that "God is good to Israel, even to such as are of a clean heart" (v. 1). Later on he did see this and began his psalm with those words. But for a time he questioned where the days of his years were bringing him. It seemed useless to walk in God's law and to have faith in his covenant faithfulness.

Do not borrow his unbelief today or ever in the future when the going is rough. Instead, take hold of his words after God caused him to see the light. In Psalm 73:23 he writes: "Nevertheless I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand." This is versified beautifully in the words: "In doubt and temptation I rest, Lord, in Thee: My hand is in Thy hand, Thou carest for me."

Yes, God does care for us in our afflictions. For with these he is polishing us and getting us ready for that heavenly glory in Christ.
